WEEKLY SUMMARY....21

FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES....22-23

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets moved generally higher across the nation during the week ended October 3th. The market was dominated by adverse weather conditions over the major corn and soybean belts. Corn fields began to show sprout damage and stalk rot. Flooding occurred over wide areas and forced closing of locks and dams on the upper river system. Rain continues to fall and the forecast is for additional rain throught this weekend. Export demand for wheat exceeded expectations and added support to the market. Tight farmer holding contributed market support.

WHEAT: Rain and flooding added support to wheat markets already firmed by strong export demand, steady flour mill grind and tight farmer holding. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 10 1/2 cents at $2.62 1/4 but fell 84-85 cents per bushel from last season. St. Louis No. 2 soft red winter wheat advanced 15-24 cents at $2.68-2.84 as wet fields delayed planting the new crop and stocks are extremely tight from the past two short production crops. Minneapolis No. 1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat went up 7 1/4 cents at $2.90 but fell 91 cents per bushel compared with last season. Portland No. 1 soft white wheat rose 4 cents at $2.73-2.76 as export demand exceeded light farmer offerings.

CORN: Yellow corn markets showed strength as rains and flooding delayed new crop harvest and damaged corn in the fields and in some storage areas flooded by the continued heavy rainfall. Soft country roads and floods closed river systems coupled with light farmer selling added market support. Omaha No. 2 yellow corn traded up 4 cents at $1.46-1.47 but fell 81-83 cents per bushel below last season. White corn markets responded to the yellow corn strength and tightening of milling quality supplies to move up 15 cents at $1.80-2.00, but fell 50 cents per bushel below last year.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets were higher following the yellow corn trend and supported by tight supplies and rain delayed harvest.

SORGHUM: Yellow grain sorghum moved mixed, down 10 cents at $3.15-3.25 in the Texas High Plains area where new crop supplies are available but up 11 cents at $2.57-2.68 per hundred pounds at Kansas City where rain delayed harvest and tight farmer holding reduced offerings.

OILSEEDS: Yellow soybean harvest delays firmed soybean markets and firmer oil and meal markets added support. Illinois Processor soybean bids ranged 6 to 9 cents higher at $4.97 1/2-5.00 1/2, down 6 to 10 cents per bushel below last year. Minneapolis flaxseeed and sunflower seed market were not active.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains moved to mostly higher price levels during the week ended September 30. Demand showed little change in domestic or export markets and rain continues to delay new crop harvest over much of the nation. Flooding occurred in the Midwest and drought returned to the Delta and Southeast. Feedstuffs traded in mixed price trends and prices were affected more by tight supply than by changes in demand.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal traded narrowly mixed with Decatur 44 percent protein meal up $1.00 and 48 percent protein meal rose $2.50 per ton. Other soybean meal markets traded as much as $3.20 per ton lower but were mostly only a few cents over or under last weeks quotes. Cottonseed meal fell $7.00-15.00 per ton as new crop supply became available and range cattle feeding is light over much of the nation due to better than average pastures. Linseed meal held steady in light trade at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets traded mostly unchanged but with spots $2.50-7.50 per ton lower. Supplies are not burdensome and demand is only moderate. Fish meal trade remains light with supplies tight and demand fair. Gulf price held steady but the East coast market rose $2.00 per ton. West Coast markets are steady in light supply and light demand.

CORN FEED: Corn feed markets traded mixed as demand is moderate, delayed harvest, and farmer tight holding of old crop firmed the market in spots. Yellow hominy feed traded $8.50 lower at Illinois Points where much of the early harvested corn was sold because of tight storage. Other markets were steady to $1.00 lower. Corn gluten feed traded unchanged to $.50 higher. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal moved up $2.50 per ton at Illinois and Kansas City. Distillers' dried grain markets were little changed with production at a seasonally low point and demand not rushing. Brewers' dried grains traded $1.00 higher at St. Louis but fell $4.00 per ton at Milwaukee.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mills ran on a steady schedule. Demand is slow due to better than average pastures. Wheat middlings dropped $2.00 at Buffalo and Memphis, fell $6.00 at St. Louis but advanced $4.00 per ton at Minneapolis. The Kansas City Midds market rose $.50 per ton. Portland millrun market declined $2.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets are mostly unchanged in light trade. A little pick-up in trading in the Alfalfa Center Nebraska area boosted prices $2.00 per ton for bulk dehydrated alfalfa pellets. Sun cured alfalfa markets were mostly unchanged in thin trade.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses traded steady except in California, $5.00 lower per ton. Demand continues light. Sugarbeet molasses traded steady with contracting going on in all areas.

FEEDSTUFFS WHOLESALE PRICES SEPTEMBER 1986.....22-23

HIGHLIGHTS: Extremely tight storage situation coupled with large world grain stocks and the prospect for another crop of near record size forced soybean and corn markets sharply lower during the week ended October 9. Rain, floods and cool temperatures restricted harvest over much of the country and tight farmer holding restricted cash trading. Generic certificate value moved up to 114-116 percent of face value. Flour mill demand remained steady and export interest was active for grains under the export enhancement program.

WHEAT: Wheat markets traded mixed, depressed by large stocks and weak feed grain markets but supported by steady flour mill grind and fairly active export trade. Light farmer selling added strength. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 5 1/4 cents per bushel. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat traded mixed, down one cent to up 4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 3 cents per bushel. Portland No.1 soft white wheat advanced 2-3 cents per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets fell sharply in spite of rain and floods delaying harvest. Storage is extremely tight and demand is at a seasonal low point. Omaha No.2 yellow corn trade 11 cents lower per bushel. Other Yellow corn markets fell 6 to 18 1/4 cents but milling quality white corn held steady in a dull market.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets traded in mixed price trends with support from expanded export interest. Oats traded 1 cent lower to 7 cents higher and barley traded mostly steady with Portland steady to 5 cents higher per bushel.

SORGHUM: Yellow grain sorghum declined in the Upper midwest and in California but Texas strong feed lot interest raised value 20 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybeans fell sharply in spite of harvest delays and the weakness spread to oil and meal markets. Illinois Processor soybeans bids fell 20 1/2 - 21 1/2 cents per bushel.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains markets traded in mixed price trends during the week ended October 7. Domestic and export demand remained slow. Rains over much of the nation restored pastures but caused widespread flooding in some areas, interfering with harvest and livestock management. Clearing weather at the close of the period is expected to permit harvest resumption over much of the nation.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal turned generally lower as a stronger U.S. dollar market depressed export trade and domestic feed business was only fair. Decatur 44 percent and 48 percent protein soybean meal declined $6.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal advanced $5.00 per ton as feed mixers needed nearby material and stocks are tight. Minneapolis 28 percent protein Sunflower meal trading steady. Sunflower oil dipped 3/4 cent lower at Minneapolis and Decatur soybean oil fell 82 points per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets were steady to up $5.25 per ton. Offerings are tight in most areas but with more pressure from weaker soybean meal markets. Fish meal supply continues to tighten as world fishing showed a declining trend but slow demand forced the East coast market to weaken $2.00 per ton. Gulf port prices firmed and was quoted $2.50 per ton higher. West coast markets were steady.

CORN FEED: Cash corn markets traded mixed and corn feed markets followed. Yellow hominy feed traded steady to $4.00 lower, corn gluten feed moved steady to up $5.50, corn gluten 60 percent protein meal went down $2.50 to up $7.50 per ton. Brewers' and distillers' dried grains traded generally higher.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind continued fairly heavy and slowed feed mixer demand forced most wheat millfeeds markets lower. Wheat middlings were $5.00-9.00 per ton lower. West coast wheat millrun markets traded $1.50 lower to $.50 per ton higher.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets continued depressed by lack of much buying or selling interest. Users generally had adequate positions and home grown grains to meet animal feed requirements. Processors were stockpiling materials for the winter feeding months. The few price changes reported ranged $1.00 lower to $2.50 per ton higher.

MOLASSES: Domestic trade of feeding cane molasses was slow with light demand from feedlots. Prices were generally steady except New Orleans $1.50 lower and Los Angeles $1.25 lower per ton. Sugarbeet molasses steady with harvest in most areas delayed due to rain.

HIGHLIGHTS: Soybean markets traded higher during the week ended October 16. The weak U.S. dollar expanded European demand for U.S. soybean oil. Decatur soybean oil advanced a little over one cent per pound. Wheat traded mixed with steady mill demand but with decreased export buying interest. Feed grains were supported by light farmer selling and rain delayed harvest but large stocks and slowed export trade depressed markets in spots.

WHEAT: Flour mills bought steadily to replace grind but export buying tapered off. Farmer selling remains light. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 2 1/2 cents higher per bushel. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat advanced 7 to 8 cents as wet field continues to delay new crop planting. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 1 1/2 cent per bushel. Portland No.1 soft white wheat was supported by light farmer selling and moderate export demand to move up 2 to 3 cents per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets were depressed by large stocks, slowed exports and by weather reports indicating clearing weather over much of the corn belt which permitted farmers to resume harvest. Omaha No.2 yellow corn traded 3 to 5 cents lower per bushel. Kansas City No.2 milling quality white corn held unchanged in dull trade.

OATS AND BARLEY: A spurt in west coast barley export trade firmed the market at Portland and Los Angeles. Oats trade remain thin and prices moved mixed.

SORGHUM: Rain delayed harvest in the midwest firmed the sorghum market. Kansas City advanced 2 cents but the Texas High Plains market declined 10-15 cents per hundred pounds as harvest resumed near cattle feeding areas.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets received support from increased export interest in soybean oil which moved up slightly over 1 cent per pound at Decatur. Soybean meal markets were mostly easier as the domestic feed trade slowed. Illinois Processor soybean bids ranged 3 to 4 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed and sunflower trade is too light to establish reliable market prices.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs markets traded mixed but mostly lower during the week ended October 15. Demand slowed as farmers were busy harvesting crops and planting winter wheat. Wet fields continue to hamper farming operations over wide areas but clearing skies gave access to many fields.

OILSEEDS: Adequate supplies and slowed feed demand pressured most soybean meal markets lower. Decatur 44 percent protein meal declined $3.50 and 48 percent protein soybean meal fell $8.50 per ton. Cottonseed meal markets were supported by rain delayed cotton harvest and markets were mostly unchanged in light trade. Minneapolis linseed meal advanced $5.00 per ton with supply scarce for the light demand. Oil and grease markets moved generally higher as cooler temperatures encouraged heavier applications of oil and grease to feedstuffs.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets were mostly lower with supplies heavier than light demand could clear. Markets fell generally $2.50-10.00 per ton and the weakness spread to fish meal where prices fell $2.50-5.00 per ton in spite of tight supply. Feather meal markets were steady to slightly lower with a weaker undertone.

CORN FEED: Rain delayed new crop harvest and light farmer selling gave corn feeds markets some support. Gluten feed traded $2.00-2.50 per ton higher due to fairly good export demand. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal also firmed with domestic feeder usage heavy. Yellow hominy feed traded mixed, $1.00 higher to $2.00 per ton lower. Distillers' dried grains traded steadily at unchanged prices. Scarce Brewers' dried grain traded mostly $2.00-2.50 per ton higher but with the St. Louis market $1.00 lower per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Steady flour mill grind kept pressure on most wheat millfeed markets and in spite of a favorable price relationship with other feed ingredients prices moved mostly $.50 to $2.00 lower. Spots fell as much as $7.00 but the St. Louis market advanced $4.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa traded generally steady with most support coming from recent export sales. Domestic feeder demand is slow and much of the hay and dehydrated pellet production is being held for winter trade.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses traded steady except midwest terminals steady to mostly $3.00 lower. Demand continued light with more than adequated supplies available. Sugarbeet molasses in the Red River Valley traded $5.00 higher as supplies are relatively light.

DISTILLERS' AND BREWERS' DRIED GRAINS: PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, SEPTEMBER 1986.....15

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat, soybeans and feed grains traded mostly higher during the week ended October 23. Export trade picked up and tight farmer holding kept buyers bidding the market higher to attract stocks. Farmers were busy in the fields harvesting row crops, plowing and planting winter wheat. Farmers offered little corn or wheat for sale but sold newly harvested soybeans readily as processors and exporters bids were firm and as much as 9 1/2 cents per bushel higher.

WHEAT: Wheat markets turned generally stronger as flour mill and export demand was not satisfied by light farmer offerings. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 2 cents per bushel. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat advanced 17-19 cents per bushel. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat went up 9 3/4 cents per bushel. Portland No.1 soft white wheat traded 1 to 2 cents higher per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets turned stronger as farmers were busy in the fields and offered little corn for sale. Export trade expanded and generic certificates traded as high as 136 percent of face value. Omaha No.2 yellow corn advanced 7 to 10 cents and the Minneapolis market traded 8 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn trade is slow and prices unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY: Export sale raised barley values at all reporting markets. Minneapolis feed barley traded 10 cents higher and the Los Angeles market rose 5 to 8 cents per bushel. Oats markets firmed in light trade with prices mostly 1-3 cents per bushel higher.

SORGHUM: Exporter bids kept the midwest sorghum strong but spreading new crop Texas harvest depressed prices in Texas High Plains. Kansas City No.2 yellow sorghum rose 9 cents per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains quotes were steady to 10 cents lower.

OILSEEDS: Farmers sold newly harvested soybeans readily in the Upper midwest but processor competition with exporters for supplies kept markets strong. Illinois Processor bids advanced 8 1/2-9 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis sunflower and flaxseed markets are inactive.

MIXED CORN IS INCLUDED IN YELLOW CORN.

SOURCE: FEDERAL GRAIN INSPECTION SERVICE

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded mixed during the week ended October 21. Domestic demand slowed as farmers were busy harvesting new crops and planting winter wheat. Export demand continued active as the U.S. dollar market remain weak compared with other currencies.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal markets traded mixed but mostly higher as export interest kept surplus production cleaned up. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal rose $2.00 and 47 1/2 percent protein meal advanced $1.50 per ton. The Kansas City market declined $3.40-3.90 per ton. Rains delayed cotton harvest and cottonseed meal markets rose $2.50 at Memphis and advanced $7.00 per ton at California Mills. Minneapolis scarce linseed meal offerings traded $1.00 higher per ton but 28 percent protein sunflower meal held steady. Sunflower oil traded unchanged at Minneapolis but Decatur soybean oil rose 16 points per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets remained under pressure at West coast markets but Midwest markets began to firm. Kansas City held steady but the Los Angeles markets fell $5.00 per ton. Fish meal markets firmed in Gulf ports where the fishing season has ended and prices moved up $5.00 per ton. East coast fishing remain in place with moderate catch and the market advanced $7.50 per ton. Feather meal markets were mostly unchanged in dull trade.

CORN FEED: Cash corn markets were $1.00 to $2.90 per ton higher but corn feeds moved in mixed directions. Farmers sold little corn but generic certificate trade was active at prices moving higher on most days. Corn gluten feed traded steady to up $1.00 and corn gluten markets were unchanged. Yellow hominy feed traded $.50 lower at Illinois Points and fell $5.00 per ton at Kansas City. Distillers' dried grains were mostly steady but Brewers' dried grains traded mixed, up $5.00 at Milwaukee and down $4.00 per ton at Northeast markets.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Fairly heavy flour mill grind and slowed feed mixer business pressured most wheat millfeeds markets lower. A few spots showed strength where flour mills finished export flour orders and cut run time. The Minneapolis Middlings markets fell $3.50, St. Louis markets declined $5.00, and the Buffalo market fell $4.00 per ton. West coast millrun markets traded mixed, $.50 higher at Portland and $2.00 lower at northern California.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trade remains dull with dehydrated alfalfa meal unchanged. Sun-cured alfalfa markets were under moderate selling pressure in Eastern markets but firmed slightly at far Western markets.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses was under pressure and prices were steady to lower. Supplies are good in all areas. Sugarbeet molasses was mostly steady, except Colorado $5.00 lower. Most sugarbeet molasses is not contracted.

HIGHLIGHTS: Soybean markets moved sharply higher across the nation during the week ended October 30. Wet fields delayed combining and forecast for rains over the week ended caused concern for beans left in the fields. Yellow corn markets moved up as farmers and elevator were busy trading generic certificates ahead of the October 31 ending of the pik and roll option. Wheat markets were stronger and supported by light farmer selling, steady domestic flour mill grind and expanded export trade.

WHEAT: Wheat markets moved generally higher and were supported by steady flour mill buying to replace grind, a pick up in export trade and by light farmer selling. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat trade 3 1/2 cents higher at $2.65, and declined 65 3/4 cents compared with last year and fell $1.21 per bushel compared 1984. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat rose one to 6 cents at $3.05 to $3.08 but fell 16-31 cents compared with last season and went down 68-69 cents from 1984. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat advanced 5 cents at $3.09 1/4, down 4 1/2 cents from last season and nearly $1.00 lower than in 1984. Portland No.1 soft white wheat rose 1-2 cents at $2.81-2.84 with most support coming from exporters buying in anticipation of nearby export trade to Yemen. Current price is near $1.00 below 1985 and 1984 season.

CORN: Yellow corn markets moved higher all week as farmers and elevators were busy handling generic certificates and little cash corn was available to the market. Barge trade on the river system returned to normal and this increased demand for corn to the Gulf for export. Omaha No.2 yellow corn advanced 7-10 cents at $1.47-1.50, down 81-83 cents from 1985 and down $1.17-1.17 1/2 per bushel from 1984. Milling quality white corn trade was dull but markets moved up 5 cents following the yellow corn price advance.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley trade activity slowed and prices moved in mixed directions.

SORGHUM: Yellow grain sorghum continued strong in the midwest but declined in the Texas High Plains as harvest tempo picked up. Kansas City No.2 yellow grain sorghum traded 5-6 cents higher at $2.63-2.71 but fell $1.05-1.06 compared to 1985 and dropped $1.62-1.63 per hundred pounds compared with 1984.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets moved higher all week as farmers offered few beans for sale and processors competed with exporters for supplies. Illinois Processor bids ranged 13-18 cents higher at $.502 1/2-5.09 1/2 but dropped 12-15 cents from 1985 and fell $1.44 1/2-1.46 1/2 below the 1984 season price. Firm soybean meal and stronger soybean oil markets gave support to cash bean markets.

SOURCE: FEDERAL GRAIN INSPECTION SERVICE

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grain markets traded in mixed price trends during the week ended October 28. Domestic feed demand remained slow due to continued improvement of grass and wheat pastures. Export demand showed spotty expansion with a pick up in meat and bone meal and corn.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal closed mixed with most strength coming from tightened supply. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal eased $1.00 lower and 48 percent protein soybean meal closed $.50 lower per ton. Other markets traded $2.90 lower to $7.00 per ton higher. Rain delayed cotton harvest tightened cottonseed meal supply and most markets rose $1.50-5.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal declined $1.00 and 28 percent protein sunflower meal went down $5.00 per ton as processors crush expanded. Tightening world vegetable oils supply forced sunflower oil 1 3/4 cents higher at Minneapolis and Decatur soybean oil rose 86 points per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets turned mostly higher in response to a small pick up in export demand and a reduction of animal slaughter. The Kansas market rose $12.50 and the Minneapolis and St. Louis markets went up $5.00 per ton. West coast markets were steady to $1.25 per ton lower. Feather meal markets followed meat and bone meal markets upward. Dull buying interest forced fish meal markets lower in spite of light supplies. Gulf and East coast port markets fell $2.50 and West coast domestic fish meal declined $1.50 per ton.

CORN FEED: Strong cash corn markets added little support to corn feeds but slowed feed mixer business depressed markets in spots. Yellow hominy feed traded $2.50 lower at Illinois Points but held unchanged to $4.00 per ton higher at other markets. Corn gluten feed traded steady to $7.00 per ton higher and 60 percent protein corn gluten meal traded $2.50 lower to $5.00 higher per ton. Brewers' dried grains were mostly higher as cooler temperatures caused reduced brew and tightened supplies. Distillers' dried grains held steady with production and demand well balanced.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Slowed domestic flour mill grind tightened wheat millfeeds supplies and in spite of reduced feed mixer business, most wheat millfeeds traded higher. Buffalo middlings rose $6.50, Kansas City middlings went up $17.50 and West coast millrun markets moved $2.00 per ton higher at all points.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Dehydrated alfalfa markets were generally quiet with most prices unchanged. Toledo, Ohio markets excepted the rule and traded $1.00 higher per ton for dehydrated alfalfa pellets. Suncured alfalfa markets were mixed, steady at Midwest points but up $1.50 per ton at Los Angeles and $3.50 per ton higher at Toledo, Ohio.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses were under pressure. New Orleans and Los Angeles traded $2.50 lower, Chicago $5.00 lower and Baltimore and Albany $1.50 lower per ton. Supplies were ample in most areas. Trade slightly improved in the Gulf area as liquid feed and feed mill demand improved. Sugarbeet molasses steady and being shipped under prior contracts.

WEEKLY SUMMARY....12

FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES....13-14

AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE REPORTING SERVICE....15

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat, soybean and feed grain markets traded at mostly higher prices during the week ended November 6. Export trade expanded as the U.S. dollar market decline appeared to stabilize and new crop feed grains are well priced compared with foreign competition. Soybean and corn harvest is well past the mid point and rapidly winding up in some areas. Farmers sold little grain during the week.

WHEAT: Wheat markets were mostly stronger but showed soft spots as export trade slowed and farmers made good progress in winter wheat seeding. Flour mills bought steadily to replace grind and farmers sold little wheat. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 1 3/4 cents higher per bushel. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat declined 4 cents as traders thought the recent run up in price was overdone. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 2 1/4 cents and Portland No.1 soft white wheat advanced one to two cents per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets traded sharply higher as export trade for nearby and for 1986-87 crop year delivery expanded. China bought U.S. feed grade corn for the first time in three years. Omaha No.2 yellow corn traded 3 to 5 cents higher per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn rose 15 cents per bushel as the excessively wet harvest weather in the midwest and drought in the south east is expected to limit the production of milling quality white corn.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets were mixed but mostly stronger as light offerings failed to fill the light to moderate buying interest.

SORGHUM: Yellow grain sorghum trade slowed with much of the new harvest sprouted and going to feed lots and distillers for immediate use. Prices held steady at Kansas City and the Texas High Plains market was steady to 10 cents higher.

OILSEEDS: Soybean harvest rapidly approached completion in some areas and farmers tightened holding of soybeans. Good processor and export demand kept offerings cleaned up. Stronger soybean meal markets gave support but lower soybean oil price limited the upward price movement. Illinois Points Processor soybean bids ranged 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis sunflower seed spot market was inactive but Duluth to-arrive bids were $7.15 per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS: Protein feeds traded mostly higher during the week ended November 4. Rain kept many farmers out of fields and cooler temperatures caused a pick-up in stocking feeds for nearby usage. Combining of fall harvested crops has passed mid points and the storage is not as acute as it was during the harvest start up.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal traded mostly higher as rain delayed soybean harvest and farmers held stocks tightly. Feeder demand was steady and exports was good enough to keep pressure on the market. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal advanced $3.50 and 48 percent protein meal rose $2.50 per ton. Rain delayed cotton harvest and cottonseed meal ranged $3.50-5.50 higher in the Pacific area and rose $7.50 per ton at Southern markets. Minneapolis linseed meal settled back to $110.00 per ton in thin trade but 28 percent protein sunflower meal traded steady. Minneapolis sunflower oil declined 1/4 cent per pound and Decatur soybean oil fell 56 points per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets were firm to $12.50 per ton higher under pressure of jobber buying. The market undertone was weak as feed mixers were reformulating feeds. Using smaller amount of animal proteins and increased usage of soybean meal. Fish meal markets traded mixed with light supply and spotty demand. Feather meal markets held firm to higher, supported by heavy turkey feeding.

CORN FEED: Corn feed markets continued to moved mixed in spite of a higher cash corn market. Yellow hominy feed ranged $2.00 lower at Kansas City to up $5.00 at St. Louis. Corn gluten feed traded steady at Illinois Points to $10.00 higher at Kansas City. Corn gluten meal rose $2.50 at Illinois but unchanged at Kansas City. Distillers' dried grains were unchanged but scarce Brewers' dried grains moved $2.00 higher at St. Louis and rose $10.00 at Milwaukee.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind is steady and cooler temperatures stimulated animal feed intake resulting in strong millfeeds markets in all areas. West coast millrun markets traded $1.00-8.50 per ton higher. Midwest wheat middlings advanced $6.00-16.00 while the Buffalo market went up $7.50 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trade continued slow but many production areas were winding up this year cutting with smaller production. A few areas showed increased yields due to unusually heavy rainfall during the growing season. Other areas reported reduced yields due to drier than normal conditions. Trade remains light and prices were mostly unchanged. Alfalfa Center Nebraska raised dehydrated alfalfa pellet price $3.00 per ton. The Toledo market was firm at unchanged quotes.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses continued the downward trend of the past few weeks. Albany and Chicago remained steady. Baltimore was 50 cents lower, New Orleans $2.50 lower and Los Angeles $5.00 lower per ton. Feeding cane molasses was under pressure as end-users continued to look at using alternate energy sources. Sugarbeet molasses steady with most production moving under prior contracts.

FEEDSTUFFS WHOLESALE PRICES OCTOBER 1986.....22-23

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat prices trended mixed, with feed grains and oilseeds moving slightly to sharply higher for the week ended November 14, 1986. Feed grain and oilseed prices were boosted by increased export demand and the weeks winter weather which restricted movement and slowed harvesting activity.

WHEAT: Wheat traded mixed, mostly a bit lower. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein closed down 1 cent per bushel. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat was the exception to the general trend and closed steady to 8 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring wheat 14 percenf protein closed 1/4 cent lower per bushel. Portland No.1 soft white wheat fell 1 cent per bushel.

CORN: Corn prices moved slightly to moderately higher at all reporting points, with firm demand from exporters and barge loading points supporting prices. Omaha No.2 yellow corn advanced 4 to 6 cents per bushel. Kansas City No.2 white corn prices held steady.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat markets traded sharply higher in the upper midwest. Minneapolis No.2 heavy oats rose 8 to 10 cents per bushel. Oats in Toledo moved up 10 to 20 cents per bushel. Barley markets were uneven. Minneapolis No.2 feed barley rose 1 cent per bushel. Exporter demand for barley at Duluth remained strong.

SORGHUM: Yellow grain sorghum prices advanced 5 to 10 cents per hundred pounds with strong exporter demand boosting prices. Kansas City No.2 yellow sorghum rose 8 to 9 cents and Texas High Plains rose 5 to 10 cents per hundred pounds. Sorghum delivered at Texas Gulf for export advanced 9 to 15 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybean prices rose slightly to moderate. Illinois Processors No.1 yellow soybeans rose 3 1/2 cents per bushel. Sunflower seeds at Duluth rose 35 cents per hundred pounds for export.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded in mixed price trends during the week ended November 12. Export demand eased a little and domestic demand averaged about steady as turkey feeding declined seasonally but cattle and swine feeding showed a little expansion as cold temperatures moved into northern areas.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal markets closed mixed with export demand and domestic Turkey feed demand easing but colder temperatures in northern areas caused some pick-up in cattle and swine feeding. Decatur 44 percent protein meal declined $1.00 and 48 percent protein meal fell 50 cents per ton. Other soybean meal markets traded $1.60 lower to $2.40 per ton higher compared with the previous week. Cottonseed meal markets were generally up 50 cents per ton but the Memphis market advanced $5.00 per ton as wet weather continues to reduce yield prospects. Minneapolis linseed meal held steady in thin trade and 28 percent protein sunflower meal traded unchanged. Minneapolis sunflower oil fell 3/4 cent and Decatur soybean oil eased 10 points lower per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Animal proteins were mostly unchanged with export demand easing a little but with supply about equal to the moderate demand. All fish meal markets were reported unchanged in thin trade. Meat and bone meal traded mostly unchanged with some spots $2.50 higher but the Minneapolis market traded $10.00 per ton lower as turkey feeding fell seasonally. Feather meal traded mixed, up $5.00 in Southern areas and down $3.00 per ton at Minneapolis.

CORN FEED: Higher cash corn markets gave corn feeds some support but easing export demand was an important offset and prices moved mixed. Yellow hominy feed ranged $1.00 higher at Illinois Point to $7.00 lower at St. Louis. Corn gluten feed traded steady at Illinois Points but fell $15.00 at Kansas City. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal rose $2.50 per ton at Illinois points but traded unchanged at Kansas City. Distillers' dried grains eased $.50 at Lawrenceburg. Milwaukee brewers' dried grains fell $2.50 but the St. Louis market advanced $11.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds markets were narrowly mixed with production off a little but dull demand was barely adequate to keep supplies moving. The Buffalo middlings market eased $.50 lower, Kansas City market fell $3.00 and the Minneapolis market rose $1.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trade remained dull with prices generally reported unchanged. Stocks are adequate in spots but very tight in some areas. Cold temperatures in northern areas is expected to increase demand for alfalfa, particularly in areas when snow cover was received.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses trade was slow. Prices were under pressure. The cost of competing energy sources along with light demand from feedlots continued to influence the downward trend of molasses. Sugarbeet molasses was steady. Most supplies are contracted and moving on schedule.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and soybean markets closed mixed, corn prices slightly higher, sorghum steady to moderately lower and oats sharply higher for the week ended November 20, 1986. Corn and soybeans harvest are nearing completion in the midwest.

WHEAT: Wheat markets closed in mixed trends. No.1 hard red winter wheat Kansas City rose 3 cents per bushel supported by strong milling demand and light country selling. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat closed mixed up 1 to down 7 cents compared to last week. Minneapolis 14 percent protein dark northern spring wheat fell 1 1/4 cents per bushel with mill demand moderate. Portland No.1 soft white wheat fell 3 to 4 cents per bushel, pressured by ample supplies in the pipeline. Earlier and anticipated new export sales of white wheat to Egypt and Bangladesh have not yet materialized, also pressuring prices. Country selling of white wheat remained light. Exporter demand for hard red winter at Pacific northwest ports improved for high proteins. Rail cars coming from Montana continue 2-3 weeks late due to equipment shortages.

CORN: Yellow corn markets closed mostly steady to slightly higher at Interior Points, moderately higher at the Gulf and some up river barge loading points. Omaha No.2 yellow corn closed steady to $2.00 higher per bushel. Corn harvest in most midwestern areas is near completion. Kansas City No.2 white corn rose 10 cents per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats markets rose sharply due to tight supplies. Oats futures markets set new contract highs. Recently imported oats shipments were low test weight, unusable for milling and also below futures delivery specifications. Millers report no milling quality oats available for import and very tight domestic supplies. Minneapolis No.2 heavy oats rose 5 to 13 cents per bushel, and Toledo No.2 white oats rose 5 to 23 cents. Barley markets were mostly slightly lower. Minneapolis No.2 feed barley fell 3 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum markets closed steady to moderately lower. Texas High Plains No.2 yellow sorghum closed steady to 10 cents per hundredweight lower. Kansas City sorghum fell 5 cents per hundredweight. Texas Gulf sorghum for export rose sharply midweek due to immediate export needs to finish even with a week ago.

OILSEEDS: Soybean harvest mostly complete in the midwest. Soybean prices closed in widely mixed trends, from up 6 cents to down 8 cents at points around the midwest. Illinois Processor points fell 3-4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis sunflower seed rose 15 cents per hundredweight.

HIGHLIGHTS: Millfeeds moved moderately higher, corn feeds were mostly higher and other products mixed for the week ended Nov. 18, 1986.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal traded uneven across the country, ranging from $2.00 per ton lower for 44 percent in St. Louis to $2.60 per ton higher for high protein in Portland. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal fell 50 cents per ton. High protein soybean meal at Decatur rose $2.00 per ton. Cottonseed meal prices were steady at California Mills Point and supplies are tight as this season crush is one of the lowest ever reported. Cottonseed meal at Memphis fell $5.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal rose $10.00 per ton as supplies tightened. Minneapolis 28 percent sunflower meal rose $5.00 per ton. Minneapolis sunflower oil was unchanged but Decatur soybean oil fell 68 points per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets were mostly steady, except Minneapolis up $12.50 per ton as supplies were very light. Fish meal markets were steady at East and West Coast but $1.25 per ton higher at the Gulf. Most fish meal movement was on prior sales and supplies are light to moderate. Feather meal price fell $2.00 per ton at Minneapolis due to increased production, but rose $5.00 per ton at Arkansass points.

CORN FEED: Corn feed markets traded steady to slightly higher. Yellow hominy feed at Kansas City was unchanged, steady at other points around the midwest and $1.50 per ton higher on the West coast. Corn Gluten feed traded steady at Illinois Points but $5.00 higher at Kansas City. Corn gluten meal rose $2.50 per ton in the midwest. Distillers' dried grains were unchanged and Brewers' dried grains at St. Louis fell $1.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Millfeeds markets moved moderately higher with the exception of the Pacific northwest. Northern California millrun advanced $7.50 and Los Angeles rose $3.50 per ton. Wheat midds rose $1.00 to $6.00 per ton in the midwest, up $6.00 per ton in Buffalo.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa meal markets traded uneven. Dehydrated alfalfa meal 17 percent protein traded steady on the West coast but up $1.00 to $1.50 per ton in the midwest. Alfalfa Center, Nebraska advanced $1.00 per ton. Sun cured alfalfa meal 15 percent protein traded steady to $1.00 higher.

MOLASSES: Trade of feeding cane molasses was extremely light. Demand was light from end-users. Availability of sugarbeet molasses in some parts continued to put pressure on cane blackstrap molasses. Supplies were ample for light demand. Sugarbeet molasses held steady with previous commitments moving on schedule. Cane molasses at New Orleans, Baltimore, Chicago, and Los Angeles were steady but Albany $1.50 lower per ton. Beet molasses steady on the High Plains and $7.00 per ton lower on the west coast.

DISTILLERS' AND BREWERS' DRIED GRAINS: PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, OCTOBER 1986.....15

HIGHLIGHTS: Cash grain and soybean prices were mostly higher for the holiday shortened trading week ending Wednesday, Nov. 26, 1986. The noteable exceptions were oats and barley prices, which trended steady to sharply lower.

WHEAT: Wheat prices were mostly moderately higher, except for Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat which closed moderately lower. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter wheat rose 1 3/4 cents to $2.70 1/2 per bushel. St. Louis No. 2 soft red winter wheat rose 5 cents per bushel to $3.07-3.10. Ideas that fewer acres of soft red winter wheat were planted than had been expected supported prices. Minneapolis No. 1 dark northern spring wheat 14 percent protein fell 7 1/2 cents to $3.02 1/2 per bushel. Portland No. 1 soft white wheat rose 5 to 6 cents per bushel to $2.84-2.86. Good demand due to trade anticipation of Egypt coming into the market on November 30 for 200,000 metric tons of white wheat or soft red winter supported Portland wheat prices.

CORN: Corn markets traded uneven for the week. No. 2 yellow corn Kansas City rose 4 to 5 cents, but fell 1 cent in Omaha to close at $1.57-1.58. Gulf market weakened slightly. Kansas City No. 2 white corn rose 5 cents per bushel to $2.15-2.35.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats markets closed steady to sharply lower for the week. Toledo oats were steady to 2 cents lower, but Minneapolis No. 2 heavy oats fell 9 to 20 cents to $1.66-1.73 per bushel. Mill buyers demand was very light at Minneapolis as buyers did not want supplies on track when mills will be down due to the holiday. Barley markets were steady to moderately lower on the West Coast, sharply lower in the Midwest. Minneapolis No. 2 feed barley fell 20 cents per bushel to $1.45. Offerings were heavy and export demand light as Duluth/Superior buyers have sufficient supplies for this export season.

SORGHUM: Sorghum markets were mixed for the week. No. 2 yellow sorghum Kansas City was steady at $2.66-2.75 per hundredweight. Texas High Plains was down 5 to 10 cents at $2.85-3.10 per hundredweight. Gulf demand for sorghum weakened during the week.

OILSEEDS: Soybean prices were slightly higher for the week. Illinois Processors Points No. 1 yellow soybeans rose 2 1/2 to 1/2 cent to $5.09-5.11. Duluth sunflower seeds fell 75 cents per cwt to $6.90, with exporters needs filled for this season.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs markets were mixed for the week ended November 25, 1986.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal markets closed mixed for the week, 44 percent protein meal markets all closed steady to higher, while high protein soybean meal closed mixed, from up $8.80 per ton in Los Angeles to down $2.40 per ton in Memphis. Soybean meal prices closed consistantly higher on the West Coast. Decatur 44 percent soybean meal rose $3.50 per ton to $156.50. High protein at Decatur rose $3.50 to $171.00 per ton. Cottonseed meal markets closed steady to $.500 per ton higher. Cottonseed meal at Memphis rose $5.00 to $160.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal held steady at $120.00 per ton. Minneapolis 28 percent sunflower meal rose $5.00 per ton to $75.00. Sunflower oil Minneapolis was up 10 points at $15.35 per pound, while soybean oil Decatur rose 17 points at $14.41 per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets closed mixed, from up $5.00 per ton in Kansas City at $192.50, to down $2.50 per ton in Portland at $202.50. Fish meal markets all held steady, for both domestic and foreign supplies. Feather meal prices were steady in Minneapolis at $170.00 per ton, and up $7.50 per ton at $180.00 at Arkansas Points. Animal fat rose 2.5 cents at Kansas City, other markets slightly higher.

CORN FEED: Corn feed markets closed steady to moderately lower except for brewers dried grains and St. Louis hominy, which rose $6.00 per ton to $77.00. Other hominy markets were steady to slightly lower. Corn gluten feed at Illinois Points fell $1.00 to $109.00 per ton. Corn gluten meal Illinois Points was steady at $232.50 per ton. Distillers dried grains fell 75 cents per ton at Illinois Points at $134.65. Brewers dried grains St. Louis rose $2.00 per ton to $78.00.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Millfeeds markets traded mixed for the week. Millrun on the West Coast closed up $5.00 to $12.00 per ton due to steady feedmill demand and dwindling supplies as the holiday shorten mill run time. Wheat mids in the Midwest closed mostly lower, down $2.00 per ton in Kansas City at $60.00.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa meal markets closed mostly unchanged for the week. Dehydrated alfalfa meal 17 percent protein Alfalfa Center of Nebraska quoted at $76.00. Southern Caliiforna markets showed the only price stregnth, rising $3.00 per ton to $129.00. Suncured alfalfa 15 percent protein steady in Kansas Ciity at $85.00 per ton.

MOLASSES: Trading on feeding cane molasses slow as demand light in the Southern states with continued hot weather, however, some increased demand noted in the upper Midwest as cold temperatures blanketed the area. Supplies generally ample at all locations and prices steady although a weak undertone persists and New Orleans instances $3.00 lower at $57.00-60.00. Sugargeet molasses steady in the High Plains as very little left unsold. Deliveries mostly against prior contracts. West Coast beef pulp rose sharply to $101.00 per ton, up $18.00.

DISTILLERS' AND BREWERS' DRIED GRAINS: PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, OCTOBER 1986.....15

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat markets closed higher during the week ended December 4, 1986. USDA reported that though most bulk community exports showed declines during the last fiscal year, sharp gains occurred in recent months for wheat, rice, and sunflower seed. Gains also were posted for barley, feeds and fodders, soybeans and soybean meal. Where weather permitted, farmers began to complete corn, sorghum and soybean harvest. Some acreage were reported abandoned due to wet fields, poor yields and extensive weather damage. The upper river transportation system and the Great Lakes shipping season is drawing to a seasonal close.

WHEAT: Wheat markets were supported by light farmer selling and active bidding by mills to replace grind. Kansas city No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat traded 5 3/4 cents higher per bushel. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat rose 2 to 3 cents per bushel. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat advanced 7 1/2 cents per bushel. Portland No.1 soft white wheat closed steady to 1 cent higher.

CORN: Yellow corn markets traded mixed as farmers in the upper midwest finished harvest and traders expected a surge in farmer selling. Omaha No.2 yellow corn rose 1 to 2 cents per bushel. A few spots showed price reduction of up to 4 cents per bushel. White corn markets were inactive at unchanged bid levels.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats demand fell sharply and depressed most bids 5-11 cents per bushel. Barley market activity slowed as the lakes shipping season neared its seasonal close and prices for feed barley were mostly unchanged in light trade.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum markets traded mixed as rain continues to delay harvest in spots. The Texas High Plains market advanced 5-15 cents per hundred pound with good feed lot demand adding support. The Kansas City market eased 3-4 cents lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets declined as traders expected farmer selling to expand. Lower soybean meal markets added weakness but a little strength in vegetable oil markets contributed some market support. Illinois Processor soybean bids declined 5 1/2 - 6 1/2 cents per bushel.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded in mixed price trends during the week ended December 2. Bountiful supplies of lower cost feed grains trended to limit demand for feedstuffs. Wet fields delayed harvest windup and damaged corn, sorghum and soybeans remaining in fields. Winter wheat planting continues to be delayed by wet conditions over part of the area. Turkey feeding declined seasonally but swine feeds moved well and pet foods continued in good demand. Beef cattle feeding is spotty.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal traded mixed but due to slowed domestic feed usage. Decatur 44 percent and high protein soybean meal eased $1.00 lower per ton. Cottonseed meal markets showed spot strength due to tight supplies. Minneapolis linseed meal fell $5.00 per ton due to slowed demand. Sunflower 28 percent protein meal held steady at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal supply tightened enough to strengthen most markets in a range of $2.50-5.00 per ton higher. Slowed usage forced an occasional spot $2.50 per ton lower. Lighter feather meal supply traded steady to as much as $10.00 per ton higher. Gulf and East coast fish meal markets traded $5.00 per ton lower due to slowed turkey feeding. West coast fish meal held steady.

CORN FEED: Corn feed markets were supported by higher cash corn markets as rains and wet fields delayed coarse grain harvest. Yellow hominy feed moved mostly $1.00-2.00 per ton higher. Corn gluten feed traded steady to $5.00 per ton higher and corn gluten 60 percent protein meal held steady. Brewers'dried grains moved steady to $2.50 per ton higher but plentiful supplies of Distillers' dried grains moved $1.20-1.50 per ton lower.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds traded in mixed price trends, moving higher in areas where flour mill grind fell to 5 days per week and cold temperatures encouraged heavier feeding. In other areas where flour mills operated 6 or 7 days and mild temperatures limited animal feed intake, prices fell $2.00-5.00 per ton. Most price increases were limited to $2.00-2.50 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trade showed a little expansion in northern areas where snow cover and cold temperatures encouraged heavier feeding but trade remained dull in the southern half of the country. Alfalfa Center Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets advanced $2.50 and Toledo sun cured pellets traded $2.50 higher per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses traded slow with limited demand from end-users and adequate available supplies at most points. Prices were under pressure with the West coast and Baltimore trading $5.00 lower and the Midwest steady. Sugarbeet molasses continues to move under contract with limited supplies available in the the Red River Valley.

FEEDSTUFFS WHOLESALE PRICES NOVEMBER 1986....22-23

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets traded mostly lower during the week ended December 11. U.S. export sales of wheat, remain well above last year but large world grain stocks continued to weigh on markets. Coarse grains showed a general weakness but individual grains showed spot strength due to light offerings and a fair demand.

WHEAT: Wheat markets moved mostly lower as large U.S. and large world stocks continue to depress the market. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat traded 7 1/2 cents lower per bushel. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat eased 2 1/2 cents lower per bushel. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter declined 2-7 cents per bushel. Portland No.1 soft white wheat closed unchanged as a large sale of soft white wheat to Egypt added market support.

CORN: Yellow corn markets were mostly lower in spite of light farmer selling. Export trade eased. Omaha No.2 yellow corn eased 1 cent lower per bushel. Kansas City No.2 milling quality white corn rose 10 cents per bushel. Lack of offerings and pick up in buying interest contributed the strength.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats markets moved over corn prices in several midwest areas for the first time according to trade reports. Light holding at the farmer and country elevator level gave support to the market. Barley markets moved 5 to 15 cents per bushel lower.

SORGHUM: Grain sorghum traded steady to up 2 cents with expanded export buying interest furnishing the support. Kansas City No.2 yellow grain sorghum rose 1 to 2 cents per hundred pounds. The Texas High Plains market held steady.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets weakened as soybean oil continued to ease. Illinois Processor Points soybean bids declined 10 1/2 cents per bushel. Scarce sunflower seed offerings rose 15 cents per hundred pounds at Duluth.

GRAIN SHIPPED FOR STORAGE IN CANADA IS REPORTED AT TIME OF SHIPMENT FROM ST LAWR SWY PORTS

SOURCE: FEDERAL GRAIN INSPECTION SERVICE

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs markets moved in mixed price trends across the nation during the week ended December 9. Expanded export inquiry firmed meat meal markets in spots. Tight supply of fish meal kept markets steady to slightly higher. Vegetable protein closed mixed with plentiful soybean meal offerings trading mostly lower but with other protein meals moving steady to up as much as $10.00 per ton, swine and pet foods continued to move well but poultry and cattle feeds were very spotty.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal is in plentiful supply and traded mostly $3.00-4.00 per ton lower. Decatur market fell $4.00 with 44 percent protein meal at $151.50 and high protein meal at $166.00 per ton. Cottonseed meal is scarce but slow demand created mixed market. Prices were mostly steady but spots were $1.50 lower to $2.50 per ton higher. Scarce supplies of linseed and sunflower seed meal traded $10.00 per ton higher at Minneapolis. Minneapolis sunflower oil closed at 15 cents per pound in slow trade and Decatur soybean oil declined 56 points at $14.42 per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Exports inquiry expanded for meat and bone meal with the market steady to up $5.00 in spots. Demand from the mixed feed trade remained steady. Fish meal trade thin with light supply and light stocks. Prices were steady at West coast markets and up $1.00 per ton at Gulf and East coast ports.

CORN FEED: A mostly lower cash corn market had little effect on corn feeds markets which were responsive to small changes in local demand. Yellow hominy feed traded $2.00 lower at St. Louis to $1.00 per ton higher at Los Angeles. Distillers' dried grains were fully steady. Brewers' dried grains rose $2.00-2.50 per ton with supply tightening. Corn gluten feed declined $2.50-4.00 but corn gluten 60 percent protein meal ranged $5.00-10.00 per ton higher.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind held steady but spotty mixer demand caused price changes on both with sides of last weeks closed, ranging $6.00 lower to $4.50 per ton higher for wheat middlings. West coast millrun markets also mixed, $1.00 lower to $1.50 per ton higher. Rice bran market rose $2.00-5.00 as cool, wet weather covered most of the southwest.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trade remained thin with buying interest light and many users pulling hay from farmer stored piles. prices were mostly unchanged with a scattered few quoted $1.00 lower to $2.00 per ton higher compared with last week.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses trade extremely slow with limited domestic demand. Softness in molasses market resulted in part from adjustment in prices following the previous weeks lower trends Houston, South Florida, Savannah, Baltimore and California points held steady while New Orleans and Albany were steady to $5.00 lower and the midwest points were fully $5.00 lower. Sugarbeet molasses was $3.00 lower in Colorado and steady in the Red River Valley. Most beet molasses is under contract.

FEEDSTUFFS: U.S. IMPORT, OCTOBER 1986.....15

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and coarse grains moved to mostly lower price levels across the nation during the week ended December 18. Farmer selling remains light but traders were evening up positions ahead of the upcoming holiday season and prices were generally under downward pressure.

WHEAT: Wheat markets moved generally lower under pressure of slowed export activity and the seasonal slow up for the holiday season which added weight on the down side. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 5 1/4 cents at $2.63 1/2, down 80 1/2 from last season and $1.08 1/2 per bushel under 1984. St. Louis No.2 soft red winter wheat fell 5-8 cents at $2.98-3.02, down 54 to 61 cents from 1985 and down 65-67 cents from 1984. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat dropped 9 cents at $2.98 1/2, down $1.12 1/2 from last year. Portland No.1 soft white whet eased one to two cents lower at $2.83-2.85, down 95-96 cents per bushel from last season.

CORN: Yellow corn markets continued to move lower as large amounts of out side stored corn are expected to move into trade channels. Some largestored corn also is being offered foor immediate sale. Omaha No.2 yellow corn went down 5-6 cents at $1.51=1.54, down 83-84 cents per bushel from last year and about $1.00 under the 1984 market. Kansas City No.2 milling quality white corn was bid 10 cents higher at $2.35-2.55 per bushel as millers needed grain and farmers were not offering supplies.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats markets showed strength due to lack of available supplies. Trade is thin. Barley markets were depressed by slowed export demand and lower corn markets. Los Angeles excepted the general trend and mkoved up 2-3 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum traded unchanged in the Texas High Plains area due to good feed lot demand but Kansas City market fell 10 cents at $2.54-2.63, down $1.46 per hundred pounds from last year.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets were mostly lower as export interest declined. Good processor demand and light farmer offerings moved the Kansas City market higher. Weaker oil and meal markets added weakness to most soybean markets. Illinois Processor Point bids eased 3 1/2-4 1/2 cents lower at $4.88 1/2-4.90 1/2, down about 50 cents per bushel from last season. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 15 cents at $6.75, down $2.25 per hundred pounds from last year.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs traded in mixed price trends during the week ended December 16. Demand continued about steady but traders noticed some forward buying and a moderate nearby stocking against the upcoming holiday next week. Export demand eased, especially for soybean meal. Feed grain markets were mostly lower but scarce oat supplies traded at higher prices.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal markets traded mostly lower as export demand slowed and domestic usage is not heavy enough to absorb increased offerings. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal eased $1.75 lower and higher protein meal declined $1.50 per ton. Cottonseed meal markets traded mixed in spite of harvest delays in southern areas. Minneapolis linseed meal held firmly steady with stocks tight and demand moderate. Sunflower meal trade steady for 28 percent protein meal. Sunflower oil rose 1/4 cent at Minneapolis and Decatur soybean oil traded 23 points higher per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets turned mostly higher as a major meat packer was closed by a strike and traders used nearby production to complete an export order. Supplies are expected to turn more in line with demand during the next few trading days. Most markets rose $5.00-7.50 per ton. Fish meal supply continues tight but dull buying interest held price advance to $1.00 per ton at Gulf or East coast port origin. West coast fish meal traded up $5.00 per ton with supply very tight.

CORN FEED: Mostly lower cash corn markets had little effect on corn feeds markets which moved in mixed directions. Corn gluten feed was mostly unchanged. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal moved up $5.00 at Illinois Points and at Kansas City Yellow hominy feed traded $2.50 lower at Illinois Points but advanced $4.00 per ton at Los Angeles. Scarce Brewers' dried grains traded $5.00-7.00 per ton higher. Distillers' dried grains moved at mostly steady prices with production and demand well balanced.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind is heavy ahead of the expected holiday cut back and lack of much nearby buying interest weighed against values over most of the country. Wheat middlings eased $1.00 at Minneapolis, fell $2.50 at St. Louis and held steady at Kansas City. The Buffalo market excepted the general trend and advanced $1.50 per ton. Wheat millrun markets moved mixed, down $2.00 to up $2.50 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: The lack of snow cover and generally moderate temperatures limited demand for alfalfa products. Most markets remain unchanged but advances were reported at Toledo where dehydrated alfalfa pellets rose $2.50 and sun cured alfalfa pellets ranged $1.50 per ton higher. Los Angeles sun cured alfalfa meal also moved up $2.00 per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses trade steady with domestic and export demand extremely light. Movement of molasses was moderate at best. Sugarbeet molasses is currently moving under previous commitments.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grains traded in mixed price trends on the nations during the holiday shortened week ended December 24. Soybean markets moved higher as farmer selling was too light to supply recovering plant demand. A weaker dollar market failed to support cash grain markets as export trade continued slowed.

WHEAT: Wheat trade thin with light farmer offerings and light export demand flour mill buying has been heavy but regularly scheduled holiday will cast millrun time through the first of the New Year. Kansas City No.1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 1/4 cent lower at $2.63 1/4, down nearly 80 cents per bushel below last season and about $1.13 below 1985. St. Louis No.2 red winter wheat finished mixed, 2 cents lower to one cent higher at $2.99-3.00, down 48-49 cents from last season. Minneapolis No.1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat fell one cent at $2.97 1/2, down $1.21 1/4 per bushel from last year. Portland No.1 soft white wheat moved up 2 cents at $2.87-2.89 but fell 93 cents per bushel from 1985 season.

CORN: Yellow corn markets continued weak in spite of slowed farmer selling as large amounts of temporary stored corn is expected to move to market. Omaha No.2 yellow corn declined 5 to 6 cents at $1.46-1.48, down 90-91 cents per bushel from last year and $1.08 below th 1985 price. White corn trade, remains thin at steady prices.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets were lightly tested and price changes were mostly on the down side.

SORGHUM: Sorghum trade light and prices mostly lower. Feeders and exporters were well covered for nearby usage.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets were moved higher due to processor buying in the face of light farmer selling. Most prices were up 5 1/2 cents for the week with Illinois Processor bids up 4 1/2 - 5 1/2 cent at $4.93-4.96, just 2 cents per bushel under the 1985 price. Duluth sunflower weed fell 15 cents at $6.60, down $2.40 from 1985 and $4.60 per hundred pounds below 1984.

SOURCE: FEDERAL GRAIN INSPECTION SERVICE

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grain markets declined at most market during the week ended December 23. Demand showed due to stocking ahead last week in preparation for the short work period this week. Pet foods and broiler rations were the only feedstuffs showing good demand.

OILSEEDS: Soybean meal traded mostly around $1.50 per ton lower compared with last week. Demand slowed and moderate offerings were hard to move. Decatur 44 percent protein meal went down $1.75 at $147.00 per ton and higher protein meal dropped $4.00 at $160.50 per ton. Cottonseed meal markets were mostly unchanged in light trade as the slowed buying interest was offset by reduced production. Minneapolis linseed meal eased $1.00 lower at $124.00 per ton in spite of tight supply as demand slowed. Minneapolis 28 percent protein sunflower meal held firmly at $85.00 with good demand keeping offerings cleaned up. Sunflower oil rose 1/4 cent at 15 1/2 cents per pound. Soybean oil closed about steady at $14.67 cents per pound at Decatur.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat and bone meal markets showed an easier tone with moist midwestern prices $5.00 per ton lower. tight stocks kept other markets steady in spite of slowed usage. Fish meal markets were mostly unchanged except for the east coast domestic market which advanced $5.50 per ton after some supplies were withdrawn from sale. Feather meal markets were under selling pressure in southern areas and the market was barely steady to as much as $5.00 per ton lower.

CORN FEED: Corn feeds averaged about steady in spite of a cash feed grain market which continued to weakend in the face of large world supplies and slowed buying interest.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Heavy flour mill grind and slowed feed mixed buying interest weakend most millfeeds markets. Heaviest decline was for millrun at west coast mills down around $9.00 per ton. Wheat middlings showed a mixed trail, $2.00-4.00 lower with spots $1.00-2.00 per ton higher.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets showed good forward interest but spot demand was slow and alfalfa markets refounded with $2.00 lower to $1.00 per ton higher prices. Stocks are expected to be tight if cold temperature and snow cover is widespread this winter.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses steady, undertone weak. Movement of molasses moderate through much of December and supplies are adequate for current needs. Sugarbeet molasses mostly committed to previous contracts with deliveries on schedule; available supplies of unsold stock very limited. Imports of molasses in October 1986 totaled 122,055 metric tons compared to 58,180 metric tons the same month last year. Brazil and Australia were the leading suppliers.
